

Flight Control System Engineers

Elbit Systems, a world leader company in the business of UAS (Unmanned Air Systems), is looking for talented flight control system engineers to join our team in Rehovot and contribute to the next generation UAV development

The main requirements we are looking for:

Aeronautical engineer with an expertise/orientation in flight control and desirably a tangible experience in the academy or in the industry, high motivation and excellent human relationship, capable to work in both autonomous and team work ways, to join us, the Flight Sciences group at Elbit UAV division

Requirements:

- Aeronautical engineer with proven knowledge in Guidance and Control system design, development and validation for air vehicles
- Multidisciplinary and often demanding work capability
- Required experience in Matlab/Simulink and C language programming
- Experience in aircraft simulation and flight mechanics - advantage
- Fluent Communication in English and Hebrew

For further information and CV application:

<https://bit.ly/3hBnnPn>